A $2,000,000 SUIT AGAINST
SHOT MACHINERY COMPANY

Bill of Complaint Alleges Stiffing of Competition.

Boston, Oct. 18.—A bill of complaint was filed in the federal court today in a suit for $2,000,000 against the United States Shoe Machinery company and its officers on account of alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. The suit is brought by Charles A. Strout of Portland, Maine, as trustee for the Goddu Sons Metal Fastening company. An attachment for two millions of dollars was placed on the shoe machinery company's plant in this suit a short time ago following the indictment of the company's officers by the federal grand jury on charges of maintaining a monopoly in restraint of trade. The complainant alleges that in violation of the Sherman act the shoe machinery

The Goddu Sons company was organized in 1897 under Maine state laws to manufacture and sell shoe machinery under patents held by the company. The United States Machinery company was organized in 1899 and a short time later, it is alleged, started negotiations with Goddu Sons stockholders to purchase the stock as a result of which the shoe

The bill of complaint goes on to say that "in accordance with a pre-conceived plan and purpose to suppress and eliminate competition and to support and project the monopoly in the shoe machinery business which the United Shoe Machinery company had acquired, the defendants caused Sidney W. Winslow to be elected president, George W. Brown treasurer, Edward P. Hunt and other shod-

Continued. Directors as directors of the Goddu Sons company; that they continued to be re-elected, not to develop the business, but to prevent the firm from doing business. The complaint further alleges that the new officers who held the same positions in the United Shoe Machinery company, declined to make use of the patents and prevented the Goddu Sons company from carrying on business so that the assets have remained idle, have been wasted and the patents are about to expire and prove worthless.
